Luján de Cuyo Experience

Achaval-Ferrer Winery

In recent years Achaval-Ferrer represents Mendoza in the Wine Spectator's Top 100 with any of its Malbec labels. The Winery, cozy and modern, lies on the banks of Mendoza River, between old vineyards of nearly 100 years, its unique processing methods and business philosophy make a very dynamic and interesting visit followed by a tasting of different labels.

Why visiting this winery?

Achaval-Ferrer is a referent of Mendoza's Malbec in the world; the warmth of their visit and the tasting quality ensure an excellent learning about Luján de Cuyo's wines.

Casarena

On an old building completely restored Winery opens Casarena to show their wines and vineyards. During the visit, wines will be tasted at all stages of the process: first from the fermentation tanks, afterwards from oak barrels and finally the bottled and labeled wines.

Why visiting this winery?

Casarena proposes the visitors to experience the differences in aromas and flavors of wine during its production in a fully restored winery which demonstrates how the processes of winemaking have evolved until today.

Luján de Cuyo Experience

Bodega Dominio del Plata

In 1999, after dedicating his talent for over 30 years advising national and international companies in the wine sector. Susana Balbo decided to undertake her dream of having a winery herself, beginning the construction of Dominio del Plata in the heart of Lujan de Cuyo, Mendoza. Equipped with modern technology, Dominio del Plata is characterized by a unique and simple design, intended for producing premium wines. Each variety is harvested manually and treated in a special way for maintaining the whole fruit expressions and achieve unique individual styles. Dominio del Plata offers the possibility to discover the typical varietals of Argentina through thematic tastings focused on discovering the potential of each one.

Why visiting this winery?

Even though Argentina is world famous for its Malbec, there have also been developed indigenous varieties like Torrontes. Since the beginning of winemaking traditional varieties have been planted in Argentina have achieved their best. Dominio del Plata grown Malbec, Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Pinot Noir, Sauvignon Blanc, Torrontes, Chardonnay, among others.

The realization of the blends is, according to Susana, the maximum expression of a talented winemaker, a way of showing their ability to play with different flavorings obtained from different soils and heights, so as a painter does with his palette.
